

WAS TORTURED FOR TEN YEARS

With Terrible Stomach Trouble Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MRS. F. S. STOLZ

2807 Sacto Ave., Sacramento, Cal.
"I had Stomach Trouble for 10 years, which became so bad that I got Stomach Cramps two or three times a week."

After years of terrible torture, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and sent for a trial box and wrote that it was the last remedy I would use—if 'Fruit-a-tives' did not help me, I would die.

After taking the trial box, I felt better, so kept on taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for nearly a year, and am thankful to say 'Fruit-a-tives' saved my life.

It also saved a friend from an operation for Stomach Trouble, after he had given up all hope of getting well."

Mrs. F. S. STOLZ.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

NEWPORT CENTER

FRANK H. SANBORN.

Frank Henry Sanborn was born in Jay, Nov. 8, 1845, the son of Bradley and Emmeline Lamb Sanborn. When about seven years of age his family moved to that part of the town of Lowell known as "Sanborn Hill." After a few years the father was removed by death and Mr. Sanborn began to earn his own living when very young. He was employed for several years on the large farm of John Stephenson, (known as "Uncle John") in the north neighborhood. Here, where she made her home he first met his future wife, Miss Ellen R. Ricker. She was a young woman possessing a strong personality, energetic and of more than ordinary ability, which qualities served her both in the household and as a teacher in the school room; and it may truthfully be said that her influence, like that of many a good wife, made its impression upon his character and habits of life.

In 1865 he bought the home farm and on May 10, 1866, they were married, he assuming at the age of twenty, the responsibilities of a home. Here, with his strong, efficient helpmeet, they lived until July, 1904, a period of 38 years, of what is now called the "strenuous life." One son and four daughters were born to them and reared on the farm and trained in habits of thrift and usefulness. Many changes take place in so long a time and not the least was a change in the farm buildings. Mr. Sanborn, naturally ingenious, himself rising to the emergency, and when necessary, working with the carpenters, the farm house more than the ordinary size was erected, and beneath this hospitable roof many a merry party of relatives and friends were accustomed to gather, enjoying the entertainment furnished there with jolly Uncle Frank and motherly "Aunt Nell" as host and hostess. These pictures still hang on "Memory's walls" and as years go by can never be effaced. The house was also open to Ladies' Aids and similar gatherings, and nobody in need of help or shelter was ever turned away.

In July, 1904, pneumonia claimed the mother and he was called to mourn the loss of the more than faithful companion whose family life had been one of constant devotion and self-sacrifice. As all but one of the children had flown from the home nest it seemed best to part with the farm in the fall of 1904 and he spent the winter of 1904-5 with his son, then engaged in the independent ice business in New York City. He seemed to enjoy the city for a time but returned to his native state in the spring of 1905. On June 21st 1905, he was united in marriage to Miss M. Violet Tucker, a public teacher of experience and they formed a new home on the plain in Lowell, close by the village. Two children came to gladden their home, a boy, Franklin Hadden, bearing his father's initials, and a girl, Elizabeth Violet. Here he lived a quiet and happy life, and carried on a farm on a smaller scale than the one he had been accustomed to do, also lending a hand occasionally to others. Possessed of a heroic will and almost an iron constitution, he did not realize that the wheels of Time were bringing him near to the point of old age.

In June, 1915, he accepted a proposition to sell his farm and soon after moved to Lowell county. He purchased the large farm known as the Perry farm in West Fairlee Center. In the autumn of that year disease began to show itself and first a cane had to be carried and then a pair of crutches. It was a new and hard experience to a man, who had been almost a Samson physically, knowing nothing whatever of sickness, to be obliged to "lay by." A steady failing of his strong bodily powers continued, beginning with so-called rheumatism, later known as sciatic neuritis, and a heart difficulty. In the autumn of 1917 a sale of the farm was accomplished and in response to the urgent request of his affectionate daughter, Mrs. Orrin Niles, he moved, with his wife and two young children to the little village home, purchased by Mrs. Niles in Newport Center, there to spend quietly his few last days without a care. "Frank" as he was called in Lowell, was most loved on account of his sunny, genial disposition, large-heartedness and for his faithfulness or steadfastness of purpose in anything he undertook. He knew no such word as fail.

Concerning his religion: He became a Christian when about thirty years of age while attending revival services in Lowell and was a constant church attendant when living there and also as long as he was able in West Fairlee, his voice often being heard in the Sunday school and prayer meeting in prayer and testimony. His membership had just been removed to the M. E. church in Newport Center. His faith was the right kind, as simple as a child's, and he possessed as the minister said, a sweet spirit. In the quiet of his family he knew how to make others happy, being willing to "bear and forbear." In the town he had held the office of overseer of the poor, selectman and school director and was several times chosen as jurymen. He also held office from time to time in the church.

Through all his failing health he maintained great bravery, his usual characteristic, and after he saw that it was God's will he became resigned and expressed in prayer a longing to go and be at rest. His disease was such that he did not take his bed until about a day and a half before his death. His wife ministered to his wants to the last, as she had long hoped to be able to do, with only a little assistance in the last parting hours. He breathed his last with prayer on his lips Wednesday morning, May 29th.

In the passing of the sweet soul of Frank Sanborn, more than an honest, industrious citizen has gone from the community. A kind, obliging neighbor, a faithful, unselfish husband, an affectionate father, a staunch friend and servant of God has gone to his reward.

Brief words of comfort were spoken and prayer offered at the house at Newport Center on Friday afternoon, May 31st by Revs. Kelley and Morse, and funeral services were held at Lowell Congregational church at 2 p. m. where his membership had been for forty years, Rev. Wilmond Warner, a life-long friend, officiating. There were many beautiful floral emblems of love and sympathy. A quartet sang two beautiful selections with much feeling. His children, Bradley Sanborn and Mrs. Wallace Smith of Irasburg, Mrs. Wallace Kemmeson of East Albany, Mrs. Charles Hannant of Irasburg and Mrs. Orrin Niles of Newport Center, all attended the funeral with their families. He also leaves a brother, L. O. Sanborn, of Lowell, a sister, Mrs. Madelon bears of Newtonville, Mass., and several nieces and nephews, besides his wife and two young children.

The funeral was in charge of B. S. Curtis of Newport. The bearers consisted of his son and four sons-in-law, and the interment was in the family lot in Lowell cemetery beside his former wife.

"Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

The following verses were composed by a member of the family:

"Home is not home,
For Father is not there;
Empty is his place
And vacant his chair.
We loved him well
But God loved him more,
And called him home
To the other shore.
Free from all sorrow,
And pain and care,
He has gone to meet
His dear companion there.
So fold his hands gently
Over his breast,
Dear loving hands,
That always did their best.
And let us press a kiss
On the brow so fair,
And bid a fond 'Goodbye,'
Till we meet our loved ones there."

ERASTUS COOLBETH.

Mr. Coolbeth died May 16th, after a long and painful illness. He was born in Lowell Nov. 14, 1844. He has been a respected resident of this town for many years. On Oct. 17, 1868, he married Eliza Smith of this place, who with the three sons and three daughters, survives him. This is the first break in the family circle. His children, Chas. M., Adam Dunn of Island Pond; George of West Charleston; Vinnie, Mrs. Chas. Rollins of West Newport; Ellen, Mrs. Geo. Martin of New Haven, Conn.; Albert of Newport and Eben of this place were all present here to help as much as possible in the care of their father in his last illness, especially Albert and Vinnie. There are several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The Rev. J. J. Perkins, pastor of the Advent church, officiated at the home Sunday, May 19th, assisted by the pastor of the M. E. church, Rev. C. W. Kelley, and Rev. C. W. Morse, all of whom had frequently visited him while in life, and he had expressed his peace with his God. They mourn an affectionate husband and father. The bearers were old veterans, N. O. Blake, Hiram Brown, and Randall Henry Buzzell. Interment was in the Center cemetery. Mr. Coolbeth enlisted as a private in Co. H, 5th Regiment, N. H. infantry in the Civil war.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN.

Dr. F. W. Swift, one of the most successful evangelists of the day and equal to those who in the large centers attract thousands of Christians and non-Christians, has just closed a most successful revival campaign at Newport Center. The meetings have been held for two full weeks, with cottage prayer meetings in different parts of the town, some afternoon meetings, meetings for men only and women only on Sunday afternoon and services nightly. A large choir of children, called "Sunshine Choir" occupied seats to the right of the pulpit and a large mixed adult choir to the left. Dr. Swift's messages were strong and forcefully wonderfully illustrated with word pictures and incidents out of his own rich experience in the ministry. His invitations were met every time with a ready response and a large number of seekers appeared at our altars. The evangelist was very thorough in his work and would not leave the seeker until he believed he had got through. The closing day was a feast of tabernacles for us. In the morning Dr. Swift spoke on "The Home" and "Mother," and had everybody wear a white flower or ribbon in memory of mother. A men's meeting was held in the afternoon and the closing service at night. The Baptist and Methodist churches united in this revival service and these churches were wonderfully quickened as a result of the meetings. A large number of converts will be taken in these churches as a result of Dr. Swift's work among us. The following statement is from the treasurer, Guy Bartlett: Received and paid for running expenses and song books, $65.97; free will offering for the evangelist, $234.78, with a subscription from Dr. Dawson of $25, making a total of $259.73 for the evangelist.

CALEDONIA COUNTY.

The little daughter of George Churchill of Hardwick got hold of a box containing some poison and had eaten considerable of it when discovered, but an antidote was quickly administered and the child emerged unhurt.

The annual reunion of the 15th Vermont Regiment will be held in G. A. R. hall St. Johnsbury, June 18 at 10 o'clock a. m. All veterans, their families and friends are cordially invited. The families of deceased comrades will receive a hearty welcome.

S. W. Searle, manager of the American Express company at St. Johnsbury, has been transferred to the position of loss and damage inspector and L. A. Rolfe is acting manager. Mr. Searle's headquarters will be at Bellows Falls.

Of the samples entered for the fifth monthly education butter scoring judged at Burlington, recently, Caledonia county received four of the 20 mentioned as scoring above 90 as follows:

F. S. Morse, Danville, 93.
C. H. Coburn, Lyndonville Creamery Co., Lyndonville, 90.5.
R. H. Lawson, Noyesville Creamery, Walden, 94.
W. A. Vancour, Lamolville Valley Cooperative Creamery, East Hardwick, 92.5.
In dairy samples submitted only three scored over 90 and one of these was Myron G. Eastman, Elmont farm, Lyndonville, 92.5.

Up to May 25 Caledonia county towns stood as follows in the sale of War Savings stamps:

DANGERS OF COSTIVENESS

Auto-intoxication, headache, lassitude, irritability, "blues," "sallowness," blotches are among the results of constipation. If long neglected it may cause piles, ulceration of bowels, appendicitis, nervous prostration, paralysis. Don't delay treatment. Best remedy is Foley Cathartic Tablets, as many thousands know from experience. They not only do their work surely, easily, gently, but without injury to stomach or intestinal lining. Contain no habit-forming element.—Fred D. Pierce, Barton, G. H. Hunt, Evansville.
